The Department of Foreign Languages at Millersville University and the Association of World Language Educators invite you to an in-service conference:

Literature and the Arts in the K-12 Classroom
Workshops led by local high school teachers

Saturday, September 24, 2016
8:30 a.m. - 1:45 p.m.

Sessions include:

Making Literature Accessible to Novice Learners
Megan Flinchbaugh and Nathan Campbell, Manheim Central High School
All Languages

The Intersection of Literature and the Arts
Amie Savidge, J.P. McCaskey High School
Spanish

Nadine Smith, Penn Manor High School
German

Cara Busque, Manheim Central High School
Renée Campeau, Warwick High School
French

Children’s Literature for Novice Learners
Michelle Kindt, Hershey Middle School
All Languages

Literature in the Intermediate Classroom
Sara Velázquez, ELCO High School
All Languages

$30 Registration fee ($20 for presenters, students and retirees)
Includes continental breakfast and lunch.
Act 48 hours for PSMLA members.

You will learn great strategies to get your students engaged in the target language and culture through literature and the arts. You will be able to share your own experiences and ideas during presentations from local high school teachers. Professors from MU’s Department of Foreign Languages will introduce the sessions. There will be opportunities for you to collaborate in small groups with your colleagues to discuss strategies and ideas for all levels. Bring your laptop or other device to enhance collaborative time!

Millersville University
SEIZE THE OPPORTUNITY

Association of World Language Educators

---

Millersville University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action institution.
A member of the Pennsylvania State System of Higher Education.