Helpful Tips for a Successful Semester:

Try these little hints to balance your sanity when life gets hectic!

-Get Organized: Use your time effectively and prioritize your “to do” list. Use a method that works for you, be it a planner, big calendar, or post-it notes.

-Speak Up: Practice speeches and presentations beforehand, possibly to an audience who can time and critique you. If you’re using technology, always have a back up (or two! We suggest having it on a flash drive and sent to your email.)

-Know Your Most Important Resource: The Library is your friend, as is its faculty and staff! Get acquainted not only with the staff at Ganser, but the wealth of resources the library has to offer.

-You Are What You Eat: When life gets hectic, don’t let your diet get out of whack! Grab a healthy, energy-boosting snack like a piece of fruit or a granola bar when you’re on the run.

-Stressed To The Max? Relieve excess stress by visiting one of MU’s Fitness Centers or facilities. Participate in a tension reducing workout, join a fun fitness class, go for a run on the track or swim at the pool to reduce stress levels.

-Brave New World: Broaden your horizons, join a campus organization, and meet new people! No matter what you do, something new can be refreshing.
