

For an application packet:

Office of Graduate Studies
231 Lyle Hall
PO Box 1002
Millersville University
Millersville, PA 17551-0302
Phone: (717) 872-3099
Fax: (717) 872-3452
Email: gradadmissions@millersville.edu

Master of Education

Leadership for Teaching and Learning

Details

Admissions Requirements

1. Application form and fee
2. Three letters of recommendation
3. Official transcripts
4. An academic and professional goals statement
5. GRE or MAT test scores
6. Writing examination (administered by the program)
7. Valid PA teacher's certificate
8. Minimum of five years of teaching experience by graduation

Course of Study Requirements

Professional Core (9 credits)

EDFN 545 Advanced Education Psychology
EDFN 601 Methods of Research
EDFN 603 Philosophy of Education

Ed Leadership Core (27 credits)

EDLD 610 Leadership Theory
EDLD 614 School and Community Relations
EDLD 620 School Law and Public Policy
EDLD 699 Leadership Seminar
EDSU 700 Functions of Supervision
EDSU 701 Aspects of Supervision
EDSU703 Curriculum and Supervision
EDSU 799 Applied Supervision

A quality program designed to prepare effective school leaders

The Master of Education degree in Leadership for Teaching and Learning through Millersville University is designed to prepare teachers for leadership roles such as principal, department head, curriculum director, and supervisor. The program philosophy is grounded in ethical leadership and strives to produce genuine leaders who can transform schools into learning communities that meet the needs of all stakeholders. We believe quality school leaders transform lives.

The program uses the strength of cohort groups whereby candidates advance through the program with a group of educators that rapidly become a source of personal support and a professional resource.

This course of study provides a Master's degree in education, a K-12 Principal certificate, and a K-12 Supervisor of Curriculum and Instruction certificate. Students holding a master's degree may pursue the principal certificate and supervisory certificate separately. This program has been accredited by the National Council for the Accreditation of Teacher Education and the Educational Leadership Constituent Council.

Leading schools today is perhaps our most important profession. Prepare effectively. Prepare at Millersville.

Contact Dr. Cheryl Desmond for additional information: (717) 871-2002; cheryl.desmond@millersville.edu