

NURS 560: School Nursing (5 s. h)

Catalog Description: Focus on the specialty of school nursing, examining the role of the school nurse in health promotion of school age youth. Health services, health education, and environmental health of the school community are explored. Legal issues of nursing in a school setting are identified. Individualized health and educational plans that address the special health needs of children in the school setting are developed. Management and evaluation of the comprehensive school health program are explored with an understanding for the need of outcome criteria. Clinical experiences provide the student an opportunity to participate in school health settings at both elementary and secondary levels. Prereq: BSN; 3hr class (blended) 7.5 hr clinical/wk in primary &secondary health office.

EDFN 545: Advanced Educational Psychology*Catalog Description:

A review of psychological principles as they relate to human learning in the urban and non-urban setting. Special consideration given to factors in the school that should contribute to the emotional and psychological stability of the developing child; assessing students' capabilities; setting educational objectives for the individual child, classroom practices and procedures, teachers' behavior and their relationship to different types of students. (3s.h.)

SPED 601: Psychological Aspects of Individuals With Disabilities*Catalog Description:

A survey course of physical, psychological and social aspects of individuals with disabilities. Special attention is paid to disability as a socially constructed experience for people with disabilities as it pertains to learning processes, educational systems and social roles. The historical development of education and human service programs for individuals with disabilities is given consideration. Current terminologies and trends are emphasized. Multicultural aspects are included as they pertain to special education. (3s.h.)