I'm feeling a bit depressed. Remember last winter — all that snow and ice and grey. I had no confidence in my bathrobe. I was off again for another week indoors and next week of the week after Christmas. Coffee into one mug. KATE. And Mrs. Brown is off again for another week indoors.

MACCA: Good to see you and the kids again.

KATE: Macca, you came by.

MACCA: Just wanted to bring by the kids.

KATE: What are you doing over here?

MACCA: Nothing, just dropping by to check on the kids.

KATE: That's sweet, by the way. I'm just checking on them.

MACCA: Thanks, Mrs. Brown. I'll be back next week.

KATE: Macca, you know what?

MACCA: What?

KATE: You're such a good friend. I appreciate all you do for us.

MACCA: It's nothing.

KATE: You're welcome. Thanks.

MACCA: Anytime. It's nice to have someone check on us.

KATE: Yeah, it is. It's nice to know that someone cares.

MACCA: Same here. Thanks again.

KATE: Anytime. Take care.

MACCA: You too.

KATE: Macca, you're such a good friend.

MACCA: Anytime. It's nothing.

KATE: You're welcome. Thanks.

MACCA: It's nothing.

KATE: You're welcome. Thanks.

MACCA: Anytime. It's nothing.
