Philadelphia Urban Seminar

May 17 to May 29
2015

Important Info

Cost:

- The price of the seminar is equal to the cost of a 3 credit summer course at Millersville University. There is an additional cost of about $550 for room and board and event/ activity tickets.

Housing and Transportation:

- Students are housed in dorms at LaSalle University. Each student is paired with another Millersville student. Transportation to and from school, and to all the events is provided. Dinner is provided half of the visit by LaSalle University, and twice by the seminar. Breakfast and lunch are on your own

Millersville Credits

- The Philadelphia Urban Seminar (EDFN 398) counts as a PERSPECTIVES (P) course. There is a required 60 hours of field experience in a classroom located in Philadelphia. The course focuses on the time you spend in the schools and the work you do there, not on readings or writing papers.

Other Experiences

- Trips to the Philadelphia Art Museum, Constitution Center, Colonel Philadelphia, Citizens Park to see a Phillies game, a private tour of building murals in Philly neighborhoods, and a trip to see Lion King at the Kimmel Center.
- There are several other place in Philadelphia you can travel to. South Street, the Philadelphia Zoo, the market, and China Town are just some of the other places you are able to go to.
- A wide variety of service projects in Philly neighborhoods.
- Sunday church service at Enon Tabernacle Baptist Church.

Why I Should Go

Taking part in the Philadelphia Urban Seminar will teach you several things, not only about becoming a future teacher, but about yourself as well. It will test your limits and make you think beyond what you already know. Going on this trip will allow you to learn new teaching techniques and ways to manage a classroom. By taking this class you will learn things you will not learn anywhere else. This class is a learning experience that you will always remember.
