

Full Title of Paper: With a Subtitle If You Want

Name of Author

Millersville University

COURSE 101: Course Name

Dr. Professor Name

Month Date, Year

Abstract

The abstract page serves as a short overview to your paper. It will allow readers to gauge if they want to read further or not. Think of a scholarly journal with academic vocabulary: you don't want to read pages and pages of a paper if it turns out to not be relevant to you! You shouldn't cite anything in an abstract since you should just be summarizing. Also, name a few (3-5) keywords that are integral to your paper.

Keywords: APA, formatting, headings, citations

Full Title of Paper: With a Subtitle If You Want

Your paper should start on this page, and yes, you should put the title at the top of your first page. From here on out, you should use proper citations whenever you quote or summarize from a source. You should use subheaders as appropriate to help with the organization of your paper.

References

Smith, W. (2020). Title of book: Watch for capitalization. Marauder Publishers.

Smith, W., & Johnson, A. (2020). Title of article: Watch for capitalization. Marauder Journal, volume#(issue#), pp-pp. DOI link.