

Ximena Catepillán
Professor Emerita of Mathematics, Millersville University of Pennsylvania

ximena.catepillan@millersville.edu

Member of the Mapuche indigenous ethnic group, Chile

ACADEMIC DEGREES:

University of Iowa, USA, Ph.D. Mathematics
University of Iowa, USA, M.S. Mathematics
Universidad de Santiago de Chile, Chile, Magister in Mathematics

PROFESSIONAL EXPERIENCE:

Professor, Millersville University, Millersville, PA
Teaching/Research Assistant, University of Iowa, IA
Associate/Assistant Professor, Universidad de Magallanes, Patagonia, Chile
Assistant Professor, Universidad de los Lagos, Chile
Adjunct professor, Universidad de Santiago, Santiago, Chile

COURSES TAUGHT ABROAD (Mexico, Guatemala, and Belize):

Mathematics in Non-European Cultures, MATH 102, Yucatan, Mexico, every summer 2006 – 2010. Courses offered with archaeologists from the Maya Exploration Center.
Mathematics in Non-European Cultures, MATH 102 & Social Work Community Services, March 2016, Yucatan, Mexico. Course offered with archaeologists from the Maya Exploration Center.
Ancient Maya Mathematics & Modern Communities, MATH 102 & Social Work Community Services, May 2018, Guatemala & Belize. Course offered with archaeologists from the Maya Exploration Center.
Ancient Maya Culture and Community Service at the Yucatan Peninsula, Mexico, May 2019. Course offered with archaeologists from the Maya Exploration Center.

COMMUNITY SERVICE:

Mexico, May 2019: I teamed up with Millersville University MATH 102 students, and an archaeologist from Maya Exploration Center, to bring every student in Escuela Jose Vasconcelos in Ek Balam, Mexico, internet capable i-Pads. My students spent a day teaching the Maya students how to use the i-Pads. A whiteboard and a 1-year internet service were donated.

Guatemala, May 2018: I teamed up with Millersville University Math 102 students, and an archaeologist from Maya Exploration Center, to paint the elementary school Escuela Aldea Zocotzal in Flores, Guatemala. I taught (in Spanish) Maya Arithmetic, for two days, to first and second-grade Maya students.

Mexico, May 2017: I teamed up with Millersville University Math 102 students, and an archaeologist from Maya Exploration Center, to paint the elementary school Colegio El Apostol del Arbol in Yaxunah, Mexico. I taught (in Spanish) Maya Arithmetic to a sixth-grade class of Maya students.

Lancaster, PA, 2008 – 2019: I led Millersville University, UNIV 103, freshman seminar students (Culture, Science, and Mathematics in the pre-Columbian Americas), to do volunteer work in the annual United Way Day of Caring,

RESEARCH AREAS: Operator Theory, and Ethnomathematics with focus on the mathematics and science of the Pre-Columbian Americas.

COURSES DEVELOPED:

Tópicos en Etnomatemáticas, Magister en Educación Matemática, Universidad de Santiago de Chile USACH, Chile 2021
Ethnomathematics, Math697, Millersville University, Master in Mathematics Education, with Cynthia Taylor, 2014
Women in Mathematics and Science, SCMA391/WSTU 391, D (Diversity) & P (Perspectives) course, Millersville University, with Natalia Dushkina and Nazli Hardy, 2008
Culture, Science and Mathematics in the pre-Columbian Americas, UNIV 103, Millersville University, Freshman Seminar for undecided students, 2006

Mathematics around the World, EDW 757, Millersville University, Educational Workshop for K-12 mathematics teachers, with Janet White, 2006

College Algebra Enrichment, MATH 107, 2001, Millersville University, with Robert Buchanan and Charles Denlinger

Mathematics in Non-European Cultures, MATH 102, 1993, D (Diversity) course, Millersville University
