

PERMISSION FOR AN UNDERGRADUATE STUDENT TO TAKE A GRADUATE COURSE FOR UNDERGRADUATE CREDIT

This form is for undergraduate students taking a 500-level graduate course to meet bachelor's degree requirements (undergraduate credit), or an accelerated program undergraduate student taking a 600-level graduate course to meet both bachelor's degree (undergraduate level) and future master's degree (graduate level) requirements.

ONLY accelerated program (ACCL) students may take 600-level courses at the undergraduate level and they may only count for both U and G level for an officially approved accelerated (ACCL) degree program. Accelerated students must be admitted/ given the proper attributes for an accelerated program by the College of Graduate Studies and Adult Learning or Online Programs. They are registered for the course initially at the undergraduate "U" level, then upon successful completion of the course, it is added to "G" level in course history.
