

M.S. in Clinical Psychology

The clinical program is designed for students who wish to pursue a career in mental health, functioning as counselors and clinicians. It also prepares students for further graduate study. It emphasizes the development of assessment and psychotherapeutic skills through coursework and supervised experience with clients in the department's training clinic, and through internships in local mental health agencies and hospitals.

The Master of Science program in Clinical Psychology offers 42- and 60-credit options. The 42-credit option is suitable for entering a doctoral program after graduation. The 60-credit option meets the educational requirements in the Licensed Professional Counselor (LPC) PA regulations and is recommended if you wish to become licensed.

Requirements for the Program:

- 18 undergraduate semester hours in psychology
- Minimum GPA of 2.75
- If undergraduate cumulative GPA is 3.0, no GRE scores are required. Below a 3.0 cumulative GPA, you must have minimum General Graduate Record Examination (GRE) verbal (148), quantitative (147) and analytical writing (3.5) components.
- Personal interview
 - The personal interview process will include an individual interview, a group interview, and a writing exercise, which you will complete at the interview appointment.

Application Deadline:

School Psychology is one of the graduate programs at Millersville University with an application deadline for each semester. Deadlines are:

- January 15 – For upcoming fall semester
- October 1 – For upcoming spring semester

Applications received after the deadline will be deferred to the next available semester.

Features of our Program:

- This is a comprehensive and well-integrated program of study whose main purpose is to train competent, multi-skilled and ethically-informed practitioners to work in mental health settings or pursue advanced doctoral study.
- In the Clinical program professional competence is seen as a function of personal growth and the development of good interpersonal communication skills combined with a strong knowledge base in psychological assessment and effective interventions with growing emphasis on empirically-supported treatments.
- Our goal is to produce professionally competent master's level practitioners with a solid skill set and an ethically and multiculturally informed approach to psychological practice who are flexible enough to work as direct service providers in a wide range of inpatient and outpatient public and private mental health settings.
