SUCCESS COACHING

Have you ever studied for hours and still felt like you didn’t know the material? Do you need to set goals and develop a plan? Do you ever wonder where all your time goes?

What is success coaching?

Success coaching at Millersville University is a service available to ALL students. We believe every student can benefit from having individualized attention to support their academic goals.

Success coaching is a personalized, one-on-one partnership with a trained professional who can help you improve your life skills and performance. Working with one of our success coaches, you will examine your learning style and habits of working, and identify current difficulties or barriers to your success. You and the coach will work to create and put in place more effective strategies.

How will success coaching help me?

Coaches are trained to listen, observe and customize their approach to your individual needs. They seek to elicit solutions and strategies from you and then provide support to enhance the skills, resources and creativity that you already possess.

The aim is to heighten personal awareness to achieve academic success and anchor this awareness with new strategies, a supportive relationship and personal accountability.

What are some examples of topics I can be coached on?

• Improving study skills and habits based on your unique learning style.
• Setting a schedule that works for you.
• Increasing reading comprehension.
• Establishing and completing important personal goals.
• Readapting to an academic environment after years in the “real world.”
• Adjusting to campus life.
• Managing your relationships with roommates, classmates and professors.
• Connecting you with other campus resources.

Success coaching vs. academic advising

Success coaches are not academic advisors. For example, you might visit your advisor to help you navigate the requirements for getting into different classes and discuss professional development opportunities such as internships and/or graduate school.

Success coaching allows space for everything in between, like learning strategies, life management skills and earning strong grades. Meeting with a success coach is one of the best ways to personalize your experience at Millersville University and stay on track toward reaching your goals.

“Meeting with my success coach has helped me to identify a degree path that I am not only good at, but that I enjoy doing.”
— Chyna Brown Stevenson

“Having a success coach has been very helpful. As a college freshman, meeting with my success coach has relieved a lot of stress. My freshman year turned out to be very successful with the help of my coach.”
— Allen Chatmon

What is it like to meet with a success coach?

Your first meeting with a success coach will last approximately an hour. After that, the length and frequency that the two of you meet depends on you and your goals. We suggest meeting with a coach:

• at the beginning of the semester to review your course load and devise strategies accordingly;
• mid-semester after you’ve settled into your classes and are aware of long-term assignment dates and
• at the end of the semester to sharpen your focus on your remaining work and priorities.

Or, anytime you
• feel you’re “not doing well”;
• have questions about academic policy;
• feel overwhelmed or lost; or
• want to explore academic options.

Remember, coaching is for YOU. If the conversation isn’t going in a direction that feels useful, feel welcome to let your coach know you’d like to talk about something else or move in a different direction.

Meet our success coaches:

Rita M. Miller, M.Ed. Something I have enjoyed most through my years of working with Millersville students is watching the growth of confidence, self-assurance, maturity and perspective as they progress through their college journey. Whether it is a new traditional-aged freshman or an adult student returning to finish a degree or just starting the college experience, being a part of their journey and helping them reach and move beyond the next milestone to finally realize the end goal is invigorating. It never gets old for me. It validates my purpose and passion as an educator.

The student success coach provides a unique holistic approach to addressing student concerns and needs. Success coaches motivate and inspire students to reach a level of personal achievement they never thought possible.

Olivia Werner, M.Ed. Hello, MU students! My name is Olivia Werner and I am one of the success coaches on campus. Just a little bit about me, I earned both my undergraduate and graduate degrees from Bloomsburg University. Before starting at Millersville, I worked at Penn State University Park for six years. I worked in Residence Life and Academic Advising. Working with students in a one-on-one setting is where I thrive and what I love doing most! If you are looking to meet with someone one-on-one to talk about transition issues, time management, study skills, note-taking, etc., then success coaching may be for you. I look forward to meeting you and helping you be successful here at MU!
